Monthly Meeting of the Maui Literary Society.

HAMAKUA AND MOLOKAI NOTES.

New Teachers at Moanalua Seminary—Baseball at Makawao—Summer Visitors at Molokai—Shipping Notes from Maui—Last Week's Happenings.

MAUI, August 18.—Last evening witnessed the August meeting of the monthly literary at the beautiful home of Mr. George E. Beckwith, at Haiku. During the early part of the evening the weather was clear and delightful, and though the moon did not make its appearance till rather late, Makawao people, with their summer visitors, turned out en masse. Kahului and Spreckelsville were also well represented. The interior of the house was tastefully decorated with pots and bouquets of flowers. Chinese lanterns hung from trees and shrubs all through the spacious grounds and around the broad verandas, which presented a most pleasing effect.

The following programme was rendered:

Quartet—“Makawao Orchestra”—Misses Gillies, Atwater, P. B. and W. D. Aiken.
Recitation—“Aunt Hetty's Gossip”—Miss Hammond.
Vocal duet—“What are the Wild nessed in Kipahulu one day last week. It was held at fresco under the branches of a spreading tree. The Judge, J. K. Fimman, sat near the trunk of the tree behind a small table, while ranged around in the shady spots on chairs were the jury, witnesses and spectators. A native boy was being tried for burning a small shanty, and, through the eloquence of J. W. Kalua, for the prosecution, was convicted, though the evidence was rather circumstantial. Simon Kaal was the defending lawyer.

Mr. H. P. Baldwin, with his four sons, Harry, Will, Arthur and Frank, Geo. Martin, and Mr. D. D. Baldwin, all left for Lahaina last Monday for an outing. Part of the party intended to try to strike the trail from Lahaina over the mountain direct to Wailuku and come that way on foot. But after getting up on the mountain from Lahaina the clouds and rain came on so thick that they had to give up their project, and returned by horseback around the mountain.

Mr. Heydtmann, formerly of Hana, has taken Mr. Barclay's place in the office at Spreckelsville. Mr. Barclay leaves for Honolulu this afternoon.

Mr. George Martin departed per W. G. Hall Friday morning for Honolulu from whence he takes the Australia to California.

It is reported that Dr. H. Laidlow of Spreckelsville will leave for the Coast in a few weeks, he having severed his connection with the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company.

Mrs. Rowell, who has been visiting her nephew, Mr. F. L. Stolz, in Kahului, departs today for Honolulu.

Harry Mossman, son of Mr. W. F. Mossman of Hamakua, arrived last Wednesday from the Coast, and is with his father at the above place.

The Registration Board is at present on Molokai, and will not be back to this part of Maui till the 27th.

Mr. C. M. Walton, of Waihee, returned from the Coast on Wednesday last. Maui friends will be glad to hear that he left Mrs. Walton much improved in health.

Honolulu people who wish to get away for a summer outing, could do

Molokai are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lewis of Honolulu are at Moanui; the children of Mrs. Edward Damon are visiting Mrs. Dr. Montez; at Kamalo Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dunn of Honolulu have been enjoying their honeymoon; and Mrs. Kendall of San Francisco is being entertained at Kupihua's.

Dr. Mouritz is planting coffee extensively near Wailuku, Molokai. Walter and Clara Lowrie of Ewa, Oahu, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horner of Lahaina.

A Thirty-Five Mile Ride.

The first run of any length by the Pacific Wheelmen took place Sunday. Eighteen energetic young men, led by Henry Giles, started about ten o'clock and returned after four. They rode about eight miles out on the road to Ewa, and to Sans Souci and back, afterward taking a turn around the town, making nearly thirty-five miles in all. It is probable that these runs will be held every Sunday.

At the meeting of the Cousins' Society on Saturday night Mr. W. N. Armstrong gave a brilliant talk on the growth of the Jews in wealth and population in the United States, and particularly in and around New York. Other features of the evening were a valuable historical paper of Professor Alexander, and a capital little story by Mrs. Dr. Lyons.

Several newly convicted prisoners, among them Featherstone, were photographed for official purposes Saturday.

A CHINESE AND JAPANESE BATTLE, FROM A CHINESE STANDPOINT.

(Reproduced from the Honolulu Chinese News.)

Waves Saying?—Miss Kate Fleming and Mr. Nicol Reading—“A Legend of Halakala”—Miss Beckwith.

Vocal trio—“Dance Durdan”—Messrs. Lindsay, Nicol and C. W. Baldwin.

Vocal solo—Miss Wing. Recitation—“The Rhymes of the Duchess May”—Miss Maud Baldwin.

Vocal solo—Miss Kate Fleming. Quartette—Makawao Orchestra. “Jacobi”—A farce in three acts.

This was Miss Wing's first appearance in Makawao circles, and her singing brought forth an encore. Miss Hammond's humorous recitation and Miss Beckwith's reading were much appreciated, and the recitation of Miss Maud Baldwin deserves special mention. Others on the programme performed in their usual good style, and as usual were listened to with pleasure.

“Jacobi,” a humorous sketch in three scenes, was taken part in by Mrs. Taylor as “Lucy Ann,” a servant girl, Miss Ethel McEwan, as “Sephronia, the banker's daughter,” and Mr. D. Aiken, as “Jacobi.” It was quite amusing, especially the last scene; Jacobi having made love to the two girls, meets them both, and Lucy Ann, his early love, wins. Sephronia, in jealous revenge, gives them both a poisoned peanut; then seeing that it has proved fatal, and that Jacobi has also succumbed, takes one herself, and the three die on the sofa together, with Jacobi sitting in the middle, while the red lights are turned on. Tables had been spread out on the lawn under the trees, and the many colored lanterns, at which refreshments were to be served, making charming tete-a-tetes possible, but old Jupiter Pluvius showered down his disapproval so copiously during the programme that it was necessary to serve the coffee, cake, lemonade, etc., in the parlors and on the verandas. But in spite of old Jupiter's efforts circles were formed here and there and a most delightful time spent. Then it was “good night,” and a ride home by a brilliant moon, darkened occasionally by a passing cloud.

STAY SCRIBBLINGS.

Moanalua Seminary is to have almost an entire new set of faces amongst its teachers this year. Miss Zeigler is to be principal. Miss Leonard and Miss Watson assistants. Miss Smith will be the only familiar face remaining. The ladies mentioned are from Ohio and are expected soon.

Mr. M. J. McLane, formerly of Spreckelsville, has opened an iron foundry in California.

Mrs. S. Marks leaves rather unexpectedly today for Honolulu, after a few weeks visit at Olenide, Haiku.

The baseball game last Saturday, on the Makawao polo grounds, between the Wailuku and Makawao teams, resulted in a decided victory for the Makawao boys, the score standing at the end of nine innings, 24 to 12. A return game is expected soon to be played either in Wailuku or Kahului.

Quite a unique court scene was witnessed in Kipahulu one day last week. It was held at fresco under the branches of a spreading tree. The Judge, J. K. CHINA AND JAPAN.

The Chinese News Gives a Picture of a Battle.

It is well known, of course, that the Chinese and Japanese here are taking great interest in the war between their mother countries. Ask a Japanese which side will win, and the answer will be just the opposite of what a Chinaman will say when the question is put to him. The government officials of the two powers have forbidden, it is said, their people to discuss the war, as they wish to avoid trouble between the laboring classes.

The Chinese and Japanese newspapers of this city, however, are devoting columns of their space to the war. Saturday's issue of the Chinese News contained the picture of which the one above in this column is an exact reproduction. The Chinese characters at the top were explained by a Chinaman as being a dispatch from Yokohama, dated July 19, to the effect that the armies had met, and that 2000 Japanese had been killed, and over that number badly wounded.
